The largest fire in the state's history was ignited on May 4, 2000 in the National Park Service's Bandelier National Monument, when a controlled burn meant to clear away dry brush and prevent future wild fires leaped out of control due to high winds. 25,000 people, including all the residents of Los Alamos, were forced to evacuate their homes.

Spam mail got its name from a Monty Python skit.

Mill Creek Park fountain - Kansas City

The fountain has four heroic horsemen which are said to represent four of the world's mighty rivers: the Mississippi River (fending off an alligator), the Volga River (with the bear), the Seine and the Rhine.
